now I've crossed on o - ver To the bright side of the street

To the bright side      Bright side of the street      I used to stum-ble in the dark      Al-ways end up off the mark      And pre

- tend it's where      I want-ed to be      I would jus-ti-fy my flight

Al-ways pre - tend ing I was right      As if hid-ing out could set me free      To think of all the en-er - gy I spent on self de- ceit      Un - til I crossed on o - ver      To the bright side of the street      Bright side of the street

To the bright side      Bright side of the street      So why
